I think I have a reasonably good understanding of what is being proposed, but I'm not at all certain where/if Reed Harris' group fits in.

The application for the piezometer holes was filed in the name of WCWCD and I gather that Steve Meismer works for the WCWCD, as well.

At this point, I am more inclined to let Steve pass the word through his organization about our concerns and then let the appropriate parties (whomever that may be) initiate contact with us. If you think that's too passive an approach, just say the word and I'll call Reed Harris about it.

I concur with your assessment of the situation. The resolution of the Band is interesting. Do we need to touch base with Reed Harris and others to find out what is going on?
