TO SEEK PRIVILEGE OF STORING WHEAT

Millers and Farmers Will Present Case Through W. W. Armstrong.

SHORTAGE IS FEARED

Utah Food Commissioner Is to Leave Here for Washington Today.

With a view to averting a possible wheat shortage in Utah during the ensuing year, permission from the national food administration for the storage of wheat by mills and farmers, with reasonable other rates for storage charges, [illegible] of the state through W. W. Armstrong, federal food commissioner for Utah.

The worst situation was discussed at length yesterday afternoon at a meeting of representative milling and wheat-growing interests held at the Commercial club for the purpose of outlining some plan for presentation to the national food administration by Mr. Armstrong, who will leave at noon today to attend a conference of food commissioners of western states with officers of the trade corporation at Washington.

It was brought out at the meeting that inasmuch as local millers could pay a more to wheat than the Colorado buyers, and that the price was liable because of its having been fixed by the federal government, there was no incentive to engage in buying this year. The miller pointed out that in the purchase of wheat they were already handicapped because of the provision of the federal law to the effect that no mill would be permitted to hold wheat in storage for a longer period than thirty days.

Difficulty Discussed.

Under such conditions, the millers asserted, it would be impossible for them to store sufficient wheat to meet the needs of the state during the ensuing twelve months. The fact that California buyers can pay as much for wheat as the Utah millers and that there are no protests for a higher price, it was declared, would tend to practically all the wheat growers of the state turning their wheat into cash at the earliest possible moment. If such a condition should prevail the only possible outcome, according to the views of the meeting, would be that Utah millers would be compelled to import wheat at the expense of the ultimate consumer.

The advisability of establishing a basic point in Utah or the intermountain country for wheat, on the same basis as Chicago, was questioned, and the only plan which found favor with the majority of those in attendance was that of permitting mills and farmers to store wheat, the government making a reasonable allowance for storage charges. Under such an arrangement, it is believed, the farmers who are not in need of ready cash will be inclined to hold wheat, in order that they may storage facilities, to obtain the storage allowance, and the millers will be induced to hold wheat in storage for a longer period than thirty days.

DRAFTED MEN HONORED ON EVE OF LEAVING FOR CAMP

Three Hundred Salt Lake County Eligibles Guests at Notable Banquet at Newhouse Hotel; Governor Bamberger Principal Speaker.

More than 300 of the men drafted into the military service of the nation from this county were guests at a luncheon tendered in their honor at the Newhouse hotel yesterday as the eve of their departure for the training camp at American Lake. The men who have been selected under the conscription act were given a hearty welcome by Governor Bamberger, Mayor Ferry, the district and local exemption boards, city and county officers and officers of the United States army.

All of the districts in the city were represented by practically the full strength of the two districts in the county did not have their entire quotas present.

Mayor Ferry was toastmaster and, in introducing Governor Bamberger, declared that while the issues of American citizens had enjoyed the privileges of citizenship only on rare occasions had they been called upon to fulfill the duty of citizenship. He said the time had come for [illegible] to do his duty. Mayor Ferry reminded the assembled men that those who are left behind will have much to do in aiding the country. He declared that those are enlisted in the war and [illegible] to the people would back up the men in the army in every way possible. He cautioned the men not to worry on account of those who had been left behind, as ample provision would be made for caring for them.

The Governor Speaks.

"I have had many mothers and wives and sons to see me and say they were glad that they were selected to help some one else," said Governor Bamberger. "I want to say that you will stand just as much in the estimation of the people for waiting to be called into the service as if you had enlisted. The enlisted man had time to prepare himself to take that place. He wants to serve his country, but not more than you want to serve it.

"I was amazed to see in one of the papers this morning that one of the districts in the county had called for an extra guard to bring some of you men here. I do not know anything about such a request being made and what if one I know that such a request was not made. The man who is said to have made the request did not make it to me, and my secretary tells me that he was in communication with that same man three times yesterday and that he made no such request. None of you was brought here by a guard so far as I can see.

"The war duty, and no one expects more from you. I know the class of men you are from and from such a class come the men who build cities and states. Executive ability needs attention while you are here will be attended to by the state council of defense, which has been organized for that purpose. So do not worry, for there are enough of us left to aid the wives and children in caring for those who have been left behind. Be good men and true men and do not worry over things which do not exist."

Colonel Alfred Hasbrouck of the Twenty-fifth infantry told the men they had been elected by a fair, square and just that they [illegible] well to do their part side by side the Canadians of old. He told them they would have many hardships to endure. He declared that no army can get anywhere without discipline, and referred to the lack of discipline in the Russian army. He then told the men that they would receive [illegible] and that they did not understand or [illegible] the reason for, but that they should [illegible] to the letter, for no order [illegible] without a reason.

[illegible] state council of defense and district exemption board, said that the reason the men were going to the defense of the country was because of insults to this nation on the high seas. He urged the men to keep themselves fit and to be prudent in their diet and their habits. He said that they should train themselves to be the superiors of the Germans, for the success of the war depended on the ability of the Americans to think quickly for themselves.

Colonel R. W. Young said there was no distinction in point of loyalty between the drafted and enlisted men. He called attention to the time when soldiers were not supposed to be sober and efficient, and asserted that only through a soundly and soberly trained the American army hope to gain the end for which it aspires.

Hugo B. Anderson of district No. 1, Lon T. Fiddler of district No. 2, Morris Brown of district No. 3, J. C. Ferbuz of district No. 4 and L. R. Nelson, for the two county districts, responded and expressed the thanks of the drafted men.

ALDRICH ASKED GUARDS FOR MEN, WILLIAMS ASSERTS

Gilbert W. Williams, clerk of the district draft board, last night made public his version of the published report that C. W. Aldrich of Garfield, chairman of the local board for district No. 1, Salt Lake county, had called for armed guards to insure the attendance of drafted men from that district at Camp Lewis. According to Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Aldrich called him on the telephone Monday morning and informed him that only thirty-two men of the 150 ordered to report had shown up to go to Camp Lewis. Mr. Williams says that Mr. Aldrich then informed him that he was afraid that some of the drafted men might attempt to escape before they reached the Salt Lake City railroad station, as a great many of them were aliens and were not taking the draft seriously. After going over the situation, Mr. Williams declares that Mr. Aldrich asked for an armed guard to bring the drafted men from Garfield to Salt Lake.

Mr. Williams says he informed Mr. Aldrich that the district board had no power to order out any guard to bring drafted men to the city and that he did not know what kind of a guard could be had. He stated that he told Mr. Aldrich that he did not think a mob-like guard could be had and that the sheriff of each county was supposed to be in charge of all drafted men until they reported to the railroad station. Mr. Williams says that he then told Mr. Aldrich that the proper place to apply for an armed guard was the governor's office and advised him to call Governor Bamberger immediately. Mr. Williams asserts that he was informed by Aldrich soon afterward that he (Aldrich) had called the governor's office in regard to the drafted men from his district.

Mr. Aldrich said last night that he had been misunderstood. He explained that when he telephoned to the district exemption board Monday, he report that some of the drafted men were pleading the war asked what he intended to do about it. Mr. Aldrich said he told Mr. Williams he thought "the would have to go out and round them up." Mr. Aldrich was positive that Mr. Williams did not refer him to the governor. Mr. Aldrich asserted that he called up Mr. Fitz Gerald to ask him about some blanks for board work, but that he did not mention nothing about guards or the drafted men to the governor's [illegible]

Three Hundred Marks and Vacation for Captor of First American Soldier.

PARIS, Sept. 18. The American headquarters staff in France has just been informed by the French authorities that Emperor William has promised a prize of 300 marks and three weeks' leave to the first German who captures an American soldier.

This information came from a German prisoner recently taken, who declared that the offer was contained in an order issued throughout the army.

A dispatch telegraphed from the British headquarters in France and Belgium on September 16 said that the German general commanding the Eleventh reserve division had promised to the man who brought in the first American dead or alive to headquarters the Iron Cross of the first class, 100 marks and two weeks' leave. That this offer had been made was disclosed by the diary of a captured German sergeant.

Describes Work of Red Cross and the Various Relief Commissions.

AS SOON as the war was declared and millions of men marched forward intent upon killing, hundreds of men and women immediately took up the problem of helping the sufferers, the wounded and the prisoners, and of caring for those left behind by the men who had gone to the front.

The first war charity to come under my observation was the American Red Cross. Two mails, containing three doctors and about twelve nurses each, were sent to Germany by the American National Red Cross. Future Red Cross surgical [illegible] questions as to who her [illegible] be accepted by the German authorities and where they would be placed. The German authorities accepted the units and at first decided to send one to each front. The young man assigned to the west front was Gold-schmidt Rothschild, one of the last descendants of the great Frankfort family of Rothschild. He had been attached to the German embassy in London before the war. The one assigned to the unit for the east front was Count Hehe de Talleyrand. Both of these young men spoke English perfectly and were chosen for that reason, and both have many friends in England and America.

Makeup of Red Cross.

Talleyrand was of a branch of the celebrated Talleyrand family and possessed German citizenship. During the Napoleonic era the great Talleyrand married one of his nephews to a princess of Courland, who, with her sister, was joint heiress of the principality of Sagan in Germany. The share of the other sister was bought by the sister who married young Talleyrand, and the descendants of that union became princes of Sagan and held the Italian title of duke de Dino and the French title of duke de Valencay.

Some of the descendants of this nephew of the great Talleyrand remained in Germany, and three young Talleyrand, assigned to the Red Cross unit, belonged to that branch. Others settled in France, and among them was the last holder of the title and the duke de Dino, who married two Americans, Miss Curtis and second Miss [illegible] Sampson. It was a curious [illegible] the [illegible] soldier [illegible]

NEW GERMAN PEACE PLAN IS EXPECTED

Action of Teuton News Censor Interests Public and Press of London.

LONDON, Sept. 18. The crop of so-called peace rumors that the German censor is permitting to sprout in leading German newspapers continues to London press and public treat Berlin as preparing home public opinion for another [illegible] which probably will take [illegible] shape before [illegible]

First came the alleged British peace offer which, notwithstanding official denial, is still being commented upon excitedly in Germany. Now much fuel has been added to the agitation by a report that the German government has abandoned claims of supremacy and control over the territory and population of Belgium. In addition there are all sorts of rumors regarding the German answer to the pope.

A strange thing about the whole affair is that the German censor appears to be permitting the newspapers to go near the matter freely, but so far as is known none of the discussion is founded on [illegible] authority than the [illegible] debunk "we understand" or "we have received information." The fact remains, however, that the German government as represented by the censor does not object to these statements.

The Westminster Gazette quotes the Berlin correspondent of the Rotterdache Volkszeitung as saying that from an official source there is no truth in the report that Germany intends to declare an abandonment of her claims on Belgium. The Gazette points out that the message is not necessarily an official denial that Germany has decided to renounce all claims on Belgium.

The Evening Standard says:

"The German censor is permitting German papers to publish reports that Germany is to climb down and to announce any claim to supremacy over Belgium." The Pall Mall Gazette adds: "Another step forward has been taken in the carefully connected peace campaign in Germany."

A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam says:

"A careful reading of German papers leads to the belief that reports of a British peace offer were circulated simply with the object of making it easy for the German government to rally to the support of the reichstag majority, and the whole thing is an adroit maneuver contrived by Dr. von Bethmann, the German imperial chancellor.

"The general consensus of opinion in official and diplomatic quarters for some time has been that German would make another peace move before cold weather comes.

"This, it is believed, will be done to enable the German government to say to the German people: 'We are willing to make peace, but the entente allies will have none of it.'"

300,000 MEN OF NATIONAL ARM ENTRAIN TOD

Represent Approximat 45 Per Cent of Tot Quota Under First Cal of the Draft.

EQUIPMENT PLANS MOVING RAPID

Seventeen Divisions of N tional Guard Have Bee Organized; Some Not at War Strength.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. Mobil[illegible] for the next movement of civilians under civilian authority more than [illegible] 300 men of the national army will [illegible] forward tomorrow to the sixteen cantonments to be trained for the battle against Germany and [illegible] The next move will be as fighting men toward the battlefield of France.

The whole nation will be astir with the movement of the 300,000 men, which represent approximately 45 per cent of the total quota under the first call of nearly 500,000 local levies. Already the camps in the southern [illegible] per cent of the total composed of [illegible] picked men, including [illegible]

One of the [illegible] has been created a skeleton organization into which the second [illegible] ment will begin to be absorbed tomorrow with little confusion. When the last [illegible] of this increment arrive the camps will house [illegible] of the first call troops, or [illegible] 500,000 men, and the other half will [illegible] as rapidly as quarters and equipment can be made available.

Equipment Moving.

In a statement tonight, the war department says the enormous task of obtaining equipment and supplies for the army moving [illegible] of the national army may be only partially equipped for some time after [illegible] are mobilized and no attempt will be made to furnish them with full [illegible] equipment until the eve of their departure for Europe. Some civilian clothing, [illegible] overcoats, will have to be [illegible] for a time, as [illegible] nothing individual [illegible] not yet [illegible] up with the army.

With the mobilization of one half the 687,000 men of the first call under the selective service law in progress, the question arises as to whether that number of men will be sufficient to fill [illegible] of the national guard and national army. There are indications that a [illegible] deficiency in men will be disclosed when official reports from all the cantonment training camps are available.

Divisions Organize.

Seventeen divisions of the national guard have been organized, but, with the exception of the New York, Pennsylvania and a few other divisions, and the [illegible] second division, which is almost ready for France, they are not at maximum war strength. The final strength of the seventeen divisions under the new table of organization would be attained [illegible] by many thousand auxiliary troops. Whether or not these troops are will be supplied promptly from the national army, as the guard will [illegible] to the front.

Since the president called the first 450,000 men of the national army, the [illegible] corps, including the [illegible] have been greatly expanded. [illegible] additional men must be [illegible] this service alone. The medical corps also has been greatly increased [illegible] numerous necessary auxiliary units immediately [illegible] when the call was made [illegible] organized. # NEW GERMAN PEACE PLAN IS EXPECTED

Action of Teuton News Censor Interests Public and Press of London.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The crop of so-called peace rumors that the German censor is permitting to sprout in the editing German newspapers convinces the London press and public that Berlin is preparing home public opinion for another abortive peace manoeuvre, which probably will take definite shape before the end of the week.

First came the alleged British peace offer which, notwithstanding official denial, is still being commented upon excitedly in Germany. Now much fuel has been added to the agitation by the report that the German government has abandoned claims of supremacy and control over the territory and population of Belgium. In addition there are all sorts of rumors regarding the German answer to the pope.

Amusing thing about the whole affair is that the German censor appears to be permitting the newspapers to cut near the matter freely, but so far as is known none of the discussions is founded on more substantial authority than the indefinite "we understand" or "we have received information." The fact remains, however, that the German government as interpreted by the censor does not object to these statements.

The Westminster Gazette quotes the Berlin correspondent of the Rotterdache Volkszeitung as saying that "from an official source there is no truth in the report that Germany intends to declare an abandonment of her claims on Belgium." The Gazette points out that the message is not necessarily an official denial that Germany has decided to renounce all claims on Belgium.

The Evening Standard says:

"The German censor is permitting German papers to publish reports that Germany is to climb down and renounce any claim to supremacy over Belgium." The Pall Mall Gazette adds: "Another step forward has been taken in the carefully organized peace campaign in Germany."

A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam says:

"A careful reading of German papers leads to the belief that report of a Belgian peace offer were circulated simply with the object of making it easy for the German government to rally to the support of the Prussian majority, and the whole thing is an adroit maneuver engineered by Von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary.

"The general consensus of opinion in official and diplomatic quarters for some time has been that Germany would make another peace move before cold weather come.

"This, it is believed, will be done to enable the German government to say to the German people: 'We are willing to make peace, but the entente allies will have none of it.'"

300,000 MEN OF NATIONAL ARMY ENTRAIN TODAY

Represent Approximately 45 Per Cent of Total Quota Under First Call of the Draft.

EQUIPMENT PLANS MOVING RAPIDLY

Seventeen Divisions of National Guard Have Been Organized; Some Not at War Strength.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Mobilized for the next movement as civilians and under civilian authority, more than 500,000 men of the national army will go forward tomorrow to the sixteen cantonments to be trained for the battle against German autocracy. The next move will be as fighting men toward the battlefield of France.

The whole nation will be astir with the movement of the selective forces. The men represent approximately 40 per cent of the total quota under the first call of nearly 700,000 local boards. Already at the camps is the advance guard of 5 per cent of the total, composed of experienced men, including cooks.

Out of this has been created a skeleton organization into which the second increment will begin to be absorbed tomorrow with little confusion. When the last men of this increment arrive the camps will house half of the first call forces, or 343,500 men, and the other half will follow as rapidly as quarters and equipment are made available.

Equipment Moving.

In a statement tonight, the war department says the enormous task of obtaining equipment and supplies for the army is moving satisfactorily. Some of the men of the national army may be only partially equipped for some time after they are mobilized and no attempt will be made to furnish them with full war equipment until the eve of their departure for Europe. Some civilian clothing, such as overcoats, will have to be used for a time, as the clothing industry has not as yet caught up with its work.

With the mobilization of one-half of the 687,000 men of the first call under the selective service law in progress, the question arises as to whether that number of men will be sufficient to fill all units of the national guard and national army. There are indications that a deficiency in men will be disclosed when official reports from all the thirty-two training camps are available.

Divisions Organize.

Seventeen divisions of the national guard have been organized, but, with the exception of the New York, Pennsylvania and a few others, and the forty-second division, which soon will embark for France, they are not at maximum war strength. The final strength of the seventeen divisions under the new tables of organization would be 623,000 men, supplemented by many thousands of auxiliary troops. Whatever deficiencies there are will be supplied promptly from the national army, as the guard will go first to the front.

Since the president called the first 687,000 men of the national army, the signal corps, including the aviation section, has been greatly expanded. Nearly 100,000 additional men must be transferred to this service alone. The medical corps also has been greatly increased and numerous necessary auxiliary units for immediate duty abroad, not thought of when the call was made, have been organized. While enlisted men of the guard or the regular army have been taken, their places will have to be filled with national army men.

Industries Expanding.

So far as known no definite figures as to the probable total deficiency in men have been compiled nor any estimate prepared in the absence of complete reports from all guard divisions and auxiliary corps. It is not unlikely, however, that when the national army divisions are organized many vacancies will be found at the cantonments and it will be necessary either to make a second call on the drafted forces or to train incomplete divisions. Divisions will go to France only at maximum strength.

DR. MAXIMILIAN KAMPMANN, former Salt Laker, arrested in Los Angeles for his pro-German activities.

KAMPMANN TAKEN BY FEDERAL AGENTS

Former Salt Laker Arrested as a Result of Alleged Pro-German Actions.

The broken heart of a woman who was infatuated with him and who, it was said, furnished information against him, resulted in the arrest in Los Angeles yesterday of Dr. Maximilian Kampmann, well-known, German-born psycho-pathologist and former Salt Laker, on a charge of violation of the espionage law.

Dr. Kampmann was arrested by federal officers and held on a president's warrant as an alien enemy.

According to information from Los Angeles last night, the prisoner's attorney bared the story of the woman's love, which, when spurned, caused her to furnish the information against Dr. Kampmann. The attorney charged that the woman, known as a "Mrs. Smith," became infatuated with Dr. Kampmann while he was giving her mental treatment in Salt Lake. About four months ago, the attorney said, Dr. Kampmann went to Los Angeles and the woman followed him there. Kampmann again began to treat her, it was said, and her old love for him flamed anew. Kampmann then appealed to the woman's brother and stopped seeing her, and she was brought back to Salt Lake by her brother.

Kampmann, who posed in Salt Lake as a doctor of psycho-pathology, and who broke into the newspapers several times as a second Hugo Muensterberg, is alleged to have met a number of German and pro-German citizens in this city and to have denounced the United States government. It is charged that for alleged participation in pro-German propaganda in Salt Lake his arrest was ordered.

Kampmann was located in Salt Lake in 1915 and 1916. He went to Chicago in 1916 and was attached to the German consulate in that city until the declaration of war between the United States and Germany, and since that time has been traveling over the western states. He is alleged to have caused pro-German propaganda to be started in a number of western cities, coming to Salt Lake about July 1, when he proceeded to bring together a number of German sympathizers and organize them for the benefit of the German government and to create dissension in this country.

Leon Bone, special investigator for the department of justice, says that he has received orders from Washington to arrest Kampmann, but that he disappeared a few days before. Kampmann was visiting at the home of Mrs. Alma Ash, 220 South Eleventh West street, when he heard that he was under surveillance of the government agents. He made a "getaway" and left for Los Angeles.

According to Mr. Bone, Kampmann's arrest yesterday was on information gathered against him in this city. The activities for which Kampmann will be interned at Fort Douglas consisted in spreading propaganda favorable to the German government, in declaring the United States' declaration of war a mistake, urging the people of this city to aid the United States to promote Germany's welfare in the war, and to [illegible] any kind of trouble [illegible]

FEDERAL MEDIATOR TAKES HAND IN STRIKE

Government Machinery Placed in Operation to Settle Difficulty Which Has Tied Up Millions in War Emergency Construction on Coast.

WORKMEN FAVOR COMPROMISE PLAN

Police Man Automobiles to Patrol Streets and Prevent Recurrence of Rioting; Labor Leaders Pledge Organizations to Maintain Order.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Government machinery moved rapidly today to settle the strike of approximately 25,000 iron workers and shipbuilders whose walkout Monday morning, after rejection of higher wage demands, paralyzed one hundred or more great and small industrial plants in San Francisco and vicinity and tied up war emergency construction totalling scores of millions of dollars.

The first concrete results of a conference called by W. T. Boyce, assistant immigration commissioner here, appointed here today by Secretary of Labor Wilson as mediator and conciliator, with committees of the California Metal Trades Association and the Iron Trades council, the organizations of employers and employees, respectively, was serious discussion of a plan whereby the striking craftsmen, members of twenty five unions, might return to work, with pay based on the scale of wages paid at Mare Island navy yard.

Conference Adjourns.

No definite action was taken, the conferees adjourning until James L. Ackerman, representing the United States shipping board, had had an opportunity to ascertain the federal wage scale.

Other government representatives, including Captain A. F. Pillsbury, district manager of the shipping board, and Mayor James Rolph, Jr., threw themselves into the massed efforts to find a compromise course to settle the controversy.

Leaders of the men expressed willingness today to discuss any reasonable compromise which might be officially offered. It was generally felt at the headquarter of both factions that some method of peacably ending the strike would be found.

Patrol in Autos.

Ninety automobiles, each manned by two policemen, patrolled lines of the United Railroads in certain districts today in a determined effort to prevent a recurrence of widespread rioting which began yesterday, when strikers from workers and sympathizers, according to police reports, joined car strikers in outbursts of violence.

W. R. Burton of the Iron Trades council reported to Mayor James Rolph, Jr. [illegible] "The striking [illegible]

INSANITY MAY BE PLEADED BY KELLY

Alleged Signed Confession of Red Oak Minister Admitted in Trial.

RED OAK, Iowa, Sept. 18.—Prominent among the defenses of the Rev. Lynn George J. Kelly, charged with murder in connection with the Villisca ax mysteries, will be the contention that he was mentally unbalanced when he made various alleged confessions of guilt with which he now is confronted. This was revealed today by W. E. Mitchell, of counsel for Kelly, in explaining his line of questioning after the state had rested its case, after the introduction of a signed confession, said to have been made by Kelly while in jail at Logan, Iowa, August 31, 1917.

Mitchell said the issue of the preacher's mental responsibility would be raised as one of his defenses. R. C. Lahman, a newspaper editor of Missouri Valley, Iowa, testified that he believed Kelly unbalanced when he saw him in jail at Logan.

Lahman and a man named Bachelder were handcuffed and taken into jail in the guise of highwaymen, so they could be present when notices of new evidence by the state were read to Kelly by Sheriff M. O. Meyers.

An agent of the attorney general also was present during the reading. Lahman said the agent made frequent interruptions to say, "That looks bad, Kelly," to which the prisoner would respond, "It isn't so, it's a lie."

When the reading was about half way through Kelly wanted the sheriff to promise they would send him to an insane asylum and not hang him, Lahman said.

The Logan county jail confession was identified by Paul E. Roadifer, who testified he wrote it on a typewriter from the prisoner's voluntary dictation. One of the counsel for Kelly said tonight that the defense would seek to eliminate all his alleged confessions from the jury's consideration.

Five witnesses for the defense were examined after the state had taken them by surprise and closed its case unexpectedly.

Kelly said: "I would like to go on the stand and tell the truth. I know I am innocent." He listened to the reading of his confession with no apparent change in his demeanor.

PLAN EVOLVED TO EXPEDITE FREIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A rule to cut down delay in handling empty freight cars, by which it is estimated the freight movement in this territory can be expedited 15 per cent, was adopted here today by the local car service commission of the American Railway association. Under the rule, any box car unloaded in Chicago may be reloaded immediately for movement over any railway to any point in the United States, regardless of the ownership of the car.

The roads have been operating under a rule which required every box car, when unloaded at a junction point with the road owning it, to be delivered to the owner road.

EDINBURGH HONORS AMBASSADOR PAGE

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 18.—It was unanimously decided by the town council here today to confer the freedom of the city of Edinburgh on Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador to the court of St. James.

This honor was conferred upon Ambassador Page in recognition of his representative position as a diplomat, his public services in promoting friendship and good feeling between the people of Great Britain and the United States and also "in appreciation of the heroic conduct of his country in joining Great Britain and her allies in the great war."

FORESEE DELAY IN PASSAGE OF WAR TAX BILL

Final Enactment May Not Come Before Next Week Because of Increasing Strife.

CONFLICTING PLANS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Zone System for Increasing Second-class Mail Rates Adopted by Conference.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Increasing strife today between senate and house conferees on the war tax bill, as final votes were approached, foreshadowed considerable delay in final action. Senator Simmons, heading the senate conference, said the conferences probably would extend until Friday, and that final enactment of the bill might not come before next week.

Progress was made today, however, on many important disputes. The conferees definitely decided to adopt a zone system for increasing second-class mail rates, discussed the war profits and income tax sections at length and tomorrow expect to begin decisive voting.

The question of publications' postage rates tentatively settled today was one of the most troublesome of the conference. Details are still open to final determination.

Compromise Planned.

A compromise incorporating provisions of the house zone plan, the McKellar amendment and Senator Hardwick's system of increased rates on advertising portions is being worked out.

Postmaster General Burleson appeared before the committee today in behalf of the special advertising increase plan and Secretary McAdoo's influence was thrown for the McKellar plan and generally against drastic rate increases. A general increase of a quarter of a cent a pound until 1918 and one cent thereafter, with a zone system of special increases on advertising portions of publications, were said to be features of the compromise being drafted.

Other Agreements.

Other agreements reported were on the passenger transportation and automobile tax provisions. In lieu of the house tax of 10 per cent and the senate rate of 5 per cent on the former, the conferees were said to have compromised on 8 per cent, limited to yield about $57,000,000. As to the senate federal license tax on automobile owners of about one per cent of original list prices of pleasure cars, the conferees were said to have returned to the house plan for taxing manufacturers sales at about 3 per cent, and exempting motor trucks.

The liquor schedules also were considered during the day with the house conferees reported to favor final acceptance of the general features of the senate's revisions, excepting possibly the Gore amendment levying prohibitive taxes on further distillation for beverage use.

QUEEN WILHELMINA APPEALS FOR SUPPORT

Dutch Sovereign Recites Growing Trouble of Her Nation in Speech From Throne.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 18.—In the speech from the throne, read by the premier at the opening of the states-general this afternoon, Queen Wilhelmina made an appeal for the co-operation of the people without distinction of class, "in order to maintain ourselves amidst the growing distress of the nations."

The prospects for the winter, said the speech, were not very satisfactory. "We continue to be obliged, amid fiercely-contending enemies, to hold ourselves ready to ward off possible transgressions," it continued. "It becomes continually more difficult to supply our people with the necessaries of life and the raw material for our industries. Measures will shortly be placed before you for the purpose of providing for the most urgent needs."

The speech points out that traffic between Holland and her colonies is being hampered in increasing measure, while lack of tonnage prevents importations in adequate degree.

government's proportion larger for builders making small profits. He will suggest such a plan at San Francisco, Seattle, Portland and other coast cities which he plans to visit next week.

Officials of the shipping board hold that wage problems belong primarily to the workmen and the companies, and that the government's interest is only that of the owner of ships whose construction is held up by the disputes. Some officials think the ship companies should have made more strenuous efforts to reach an agreement with their workmen, without passing the responsibility to the government. Special resentment is felt over reports that a few employers told union leaders that the government would not allow wage increases.

Secretary Daniels announced tonight that the commandant of the Mare island navy yard had reported work progressing efficiently there without regard to unsettled labor conditions in the vicinity. The commandant said all employees of the navy yard were loyal.
